

Celebrating 50 Years of Biblical Archaeology in Madison: 1967-2017

The Madison Biblical Archaeology Society

presents:

Digital Unwrapping:

Homer, Herculaneum, and the Scroll from En-Gedi

With

Brent Seales

Chairman, University of Kentucky
Department of Computer Science
PhD, University of Wisconsin, 1991

“Brent Seales has made a career of unlocking lost secrets. With specialized software he and his team developed, the University of Kentucky computer scientist can read ancient scrolls too fragile to unroll.”

- Discover magazine, May 2017

“Brent Seales has unlocked the text in the early Leviticus scroll from En Gedi -- the oldest Pentateuchal scroll in Hebrew outside of the Dead Sea Scrolls.”

- Sci-News.com, September 2016

Friday, October 20, 2017

7:00pm

Upper House

365 East Campus Mall

University of Wisconsin-Madison

With thanks to our co-sponsors:

The Stephen and Laurel Brown Foundation,
InterVarsity Christian Fellowship,
allgodspople.com

Public parking available below Upper House, in the Lucky building.
Enter off of Lake Street between University Avenue and Johnson Street.